

The Integration of Microhole Technologies

Program goal: Maximize the combined utilization of these three key technology areas essential for maximizing oil recovery via cost effective technologies that appeal to industry business units.